

Additional financial and contractual flexibilities for ongoing projects of the international pilot programme 2018-2020

(published 23 March 2021)

These provisions only apply when your project is affected due to the COVID-19 situation.

The provisions provide for the following exceptional regulations for international pilot programme projects:

- Projects can be extended for a maximum of 24 months. However, the budget will not be increased. Please contact Movetia for this purpose.
- Transnational activities can take place virtually – providing they are helpful.
- In principle and on request, up to 70% of the funds committed under contract (particularly mobility funds) can be freely transferred and spent on other actions/activities. The original aims of the project must, however, remain the same and cannot be altered.
- The principle of force majeure applies to all mobility projects that have been cancelled or interrupted due to the COVID-19 pandemic. Movetia may cover cancellation costs if appropriate receipts are provided. As stipulated in the contract, Movetia cannot cover any additional costs once the maximum funding amount per project has been reached.
- The final report must clearly and transparently show what the transferred funds were used for.
- It is best to contact Movetia in good time to clarify the eligibility of any transfers in advance.
