

Application for a work and residence permit for British language assistants in Switzerland

Guidelines for host schools and language assistants

The end of the Agreement on the Free Movement of Persons between Switzerland and the UK will have an effect on incoming mobility. British language assistants are considered third-country nationals (i.e. nationals of countries outside the EU/EFTA) as of 1 January 2021. This information sheet has been prepared for British language assistants and Swiss host schools, and also serves as a guideline for applying for a work and residence permit. This process is outlined in tabular form at the end of the document for the whole of Switzerland and for those cantons where placements of British nationals are planned for the forthcoming school year.

The framed chapters and the appendices are primarily intended for the host schools.

1 Visa, work and residence permit for British language assistants

There is no visa requirement for United Kingdom (UK) nationals. However, since leaving the EU, UK nationals are treated like other third-country nationals. This means that instead of a visa, a residence permit is required prior to entry. British language assistants are also not permitted to start work until they have obtained a work permit.

1.1. Responsibilities of the host schools and the language assistants

The work and residence permit must be submitted by the host school to the responsible cantonal authority two to three months before the start of work. The responsible canton is the one in which the employee's place of work is located. All information can be found in the respective cantonal information sheet for employed residents. The language assistant must contact the host schools well in advance and provide them with all the necessary information. The required documents are explained in more detail in the next section.

1.2. Required documents and preparation time

The application for the work and residence permit must be filled out and signed by the host school together with the language assistant. It should be noted that the cantons have different requirements and that sufficient time must be allowed for the preparation of all the necessary documents. It is advisable to plan for at least 3 weeks.

The following documents must be enclosed with the application:

- Copy of employment contract
- CV
- Copy of diplomas and certificates (if none are available, other proof should be enclosed, e.g. a certificate of achievement from a university).
- Copy of valid passport

- Employer's justification of the need for a foreign employee. It is recommended that the justification be accompanied by the Movetia factsheet (for the attention of the Association of Swiss Labour Market Authorities¹) and the State Secretariat for Migration (SEM) factsheet², as well as the confirmation issued by Movetia that the applicant has been accepted into the programme (acceptance confirmation).

The documents must typically be translated into German, French or Italian. In the canton of Jura, an English version is sufficient (cf. chapter 2). It is advisable for the host school to contact the relevant cantonal office before submitting the application to clarify whether an English version is sufficient (if this is not noted in the cantonal information sheet). If a translation is necessary, it must be provided by the language assistant. The hosts schools clarify with the canton whether a translation is required. If so, the language assistant must organise the translation and the school will pay the cost. The translation does not need to be certified (subject to change).

However, if a canton requires a certified translation, this should be noted in the cantonal information sheet on obtaining a work and residence permit.

1.3. Approval procedure of the Swiss authorities and fees charged

Three different authorities are involved in the approval procedure for obtaining a work and residence permit. The application is usually submitted to the responsible cantonal Office of Economy and Labour (Amt für Wirtschaft und Arbeit), which makes the preliminary decision on the work permit (1). If the application is approved, the State Secretariat for Migration (2) examines the cantonal preliminary decision on the work permit. If the office approves the application, it is forwarded to the responsible cantonal migration authority (3). The latter ultimately makes the decision on the residence permit.

The fees for the work permit vary from canton to canton; in the canton of St. Gallen, for example, the permit costs CHF 250 and in the canton of Zurich CHF 400 (subject to change). The processing fees for the permit from the State Secretariat for Migration are CHF 180. The cantonal Migration Office (Migrationsamt) incurs additional fees of around CHF 95.

The fees for the work permit and labour market disposition are usually charged to the employer. The residence permit fees, on the other hand, are charged to the employee. This means that the British language assistants must pay these costs. The costs are usually paid directly at the time of registration in the municipality.

Further fees are to be expected for registration with the residents' registration office. These are described in the next chapter.

1.4. Registration in Switzerland and health insurance

Registration with the residents' registration office of the municipality of residence is required within 14 days of entry into Switzerland (analogous to general country information from Movetia, see below).

The following documents must be presented at the time of registration:

- Passport
- Confirmation of residence permit
- Confirmation of health insurance (proving that the language assistant is covered by a recognised health insurance).
- Employment contract
- One passport photo
- Rental contract for the (temporary) accommodation in Switzerland.

After registration with the municipality, the person receives a work and residence permit. In some municipalities, digital fingerprints are also collected. Therefore, the fees for registration and issuing the permit can range from CHF 100 to 170.

² from 6 December 2021

As already mentioned, a confirmation of health insurance must be presented at the time of registration. The Global Health Insurance Card (GHIC) is not valid in Switzerland. Language assistants must therefore be covered by a health insurance policy that is valid in Switzerland before entering the country.

The Swiss health insurance must be organised and paid by the language assistants themselves. Expenses for this insurance are to be calculated for each month as they are important for budgeting. Further information can be found in the Practical tips of Movetia, which are sent to all language assistants who have been allocated successfully in preparation for their stay. Assistants can also download them in their LAP-IT-Account.

2 Tabular summary of the procedures for obtaining a work and residence permit

This chapter provides a tabular overview of the procedure for obtaining a work and residence permit in Switzerland for the cantons of Basel, Bern, Jura, St. Gallen, Zurich and Zug. Application forms and addresses of the responsible authorities are linked in the tables. It is advisable to read the information sheets of the respective cantons before submitting the application for the work and residence permit (these are also linked in the tables). If documents need to be submitted after the application has been submitted, the cantons will contact the host schools directly.

According to information provided by the Directorate of the Association of Swiss Labour Market Authorities on 17 December 2021, the permit quotas for UK nationals have not yet been exhausted. Host schools are therefore encouraged to make use of these quotas.

4 For the host school: Factsheets from Movetia and the State Secretariat for Migration (SEM)

5 Support from Movetia

After the successful placement of a British national, Movetia will send the following documents to the host school:

1. confirmation of admission in pdf format
2. template for a letter of motivation in Word format.

Movetia has commissioned a mandate holder to provide support. However, the first point of contact remains the Movetia programme officer: Edith Funicello: edith.funicello@movetia.ch

Language Assistants Programme Factsheet for the attention of the Association of Swiss Labour Market Authorities

The international Language Assistants Programme (SAP) is implemented by Movetia, the national agency for exchange and mobility, on behalf of the State Secretariat for Education, Research and Innovation (SERI). This exchange programme aims to strengthen international cooperation in education and promote multilingualism. Its implementation is based on bilateral agreements between Movetia and partner organisations in the UK, France, Germany, Austria and Spain.

Eligible participants are students or graduates. They are given an insight into the education system of the host country and the teaching methods there. At the same time, they can broaden their linguistic and methodological-didactic skills. The programme enables intensive linguistic and methodological-didactic further training.

Due to the United Kingdom's withdrawal from the European Union, language assistant teachers from this country need a residence and work permit to work in Switzerland from January 2021.

What benefits do language assistants bring to the Swiss host schools?

Schools receive support from young foreign assistant teachers who teach their native language. This allows for targeted group teaching and thus the chance to respond better to the needs of individual students. The language assistants also build bridges to the students' living environment and thus promote a cosmopolitan learning atmosphere. They also act as role models and encourage learners to step out of their comfort zone as part of an exchange programme.

What are the professional profiles of the assistant teachers?

Language assistants must have completed at least four semesters of study at a university, university of applied sciences or university of teacher education. Candidates are prospective teachers and speak English, German, French, Italian or Spanish as their mother tongue or at an equivalent level. They are usually between 20 and 30, and in exceptional cases up to 35 years old.

Duration of employment and working hours

The employment duration is usually 10 months (1 September to 30 June). In German-speaking Switzerland, schools often hire assistant teachers for the entire school year (mid-August to mid-July). Teaching duties are 12 hours per week (16 lessons of 45 minutes).

Language assistant teacher salaries

The minimum gross monthly wage, i.e. the amount before all deductions, is CHF 3,200 (net approx. CHF 2,550). This figure is a reference value. The exact conditions of employment are contractually agreed between the canton or the school and the language assistant teachers.

Federal funding for the Language Assistants Programme

In a decision dated 3 May 2021, the State Secretariat for Education, Research and Innovation commissioned Movetia to provide financial support of CHF 8,000 per school year and assistant teacher. This corresponds to about a quarter of the salary to be paid by the cantons.

Recommendation of the Swiss Conference of Upper Secondary School Offices (SMAK)

In November 2019, the recommendation of the Swiss Conference of Upper Secondary School Offices (SMAK), a specialist conference of the Swiss Conference of Cantonal Ministers of Education (EDK), made a commitment to Movetia's Language Assistants Programme and pledged to actively and specifically promote the Language Assistants Programme in the schools of the cantons. gezielt zu fördern.

Factsheet: Language Assistants Programme (SAP) CH-UK

1. Current situation / overview

Since 1 January 2021, British nationals have been considered third-country nationals. British nationals entering the country for the first time are admitted on the basis of the Foreign Nationals and Integration Act (AIG). Both quantitative and qualitative admission requirements apply. The Federal Council has allocated a separate quota for UK nationals for 2021 (low utilisation until the end of October 2021): B 24%; L 15%. It has decided to continue this quota for UK nationals for the year 2022 at the same level as an extended transitional solution. The cantons allocate the UK quotas on their own authority, without the consent of the Confederation (see section 4.8.6 of the AIG Regulations).

2. Legal situation

Teachers from third countries can in principle be approved for admission to international schools (section 4.7.7 of the AIG Regulations). Language assistants (e.g. French teachers from third countries at cantonal schools) may be admitted on international exchanges in accordance with Art. 30 para. 1 let. g AIG and Art. 41 VZAE as well as No. 4.4.7 and No. 4.7.5.3 of the AIG Regulations.

The language proficiency requirements must be met if they are teachers of native language and culture (HSK teachers) (Art. 26a AIG). Language assistants are expected to have language skills in the language to be taught (e.g. French, German), as they are prospective language teachers, usually with a Master's degree. However, a certain language level of the national language spoken at the place of assignment, as is the case with religious care and teaching staff and HSK teachers (Art. 26a AIG), is not a prerequisite.

3. Salary conditions and part-time labour

Within the framework of the AIG, the cantons examine whether the wages are in line with local, professional and industry standards (Art. 22 AIG). For trainee language teachers or language assistants, the salary should be in line with the usual local and industry rates for internships and allow trainees to cover their living expenses. The job is usually full-time (teaching hours as well as preparation and follow-up). Exceptions are possible, e.g. if further professional training is completed outside the employment context (e.g. lectures at university).

4. Exchange characteristic of the programme

The key aspect of employment as a language assistant in Switzerland on the basis of Art. 41 of the Ordinance on Admission, Stay and Employment (VZAE) is the exchange characteristic. Applications can only be approved if the interstate or international exchange is the main purpose of the stay (principle of reciprocity) and a return trip is guaranteed. Applications must be submitted in cooperation with organisations that aim to promote youth, economic, scientific and cultural exchange at international level (e.g. MOVETIA).
