Explanations

Travel costs: Flat-rate travel allowances help cover the costs of the return journey from the place of residence to the location where the activity takes place. As a rule, public transport should be used.

Organisation costs: Organisational support allowances contribute to project costs, such as accommodation, meals, equipment etc.

Special needs costs: The participation of persons with special needs may result in expenses that can be covered at 100%, e.g. special transportation for wheelchair users. The notification of requirements can be submitted with the application for funding if the participation of a person with special needs is already known at this point. If this is not the case, it can be submitted at any time during the project, or at the latest with the final report. The notification of requirements must indicate the estimated amount, the final expense claim must be based on actual costs as per supporting documents (receipts).

Exceptional costs: Exceptional costs can include visa and visa related costs, residence permits, vaccinations, medical certifications required for entry into the host country. Exceptional costs can be covered at 100%.

Exceptional costs also include the accommodation costs for an Advance Planning Visit (for Youth Exchanges and EVS only).

The estimated amount should be requested in the application and the final expense claim should be based on actual costs as per supporting documents.

Individual support/allowance (EVS only): These allowances are designed to cover the personal expenses of EVS volunteers.

Linguistic support costs (EVS only): Where there is a justified need, a flat-rate allowance to improve language skills before or during a volunteer assignment can be applied for (only for mobility projects lasting between two and twelve months). A receipt must be sent with the final report to prove that the language support was used.
